

The RainOutHotline invites you to join our sponsor program. The RainOutHotline provides a free service to Parks and Recreational baseball facilities allowing them to easily broadcast the status of their fields when bad weather is in the area. With the RainOutHotline there are three ways that families can avoid driving to the park only to find out that the field is closed and the game is cancelled:

- The park can place the status box on their website, driving additional eyes to it.
- The status is available on the RainOutHotline’s website
- Status changes are sent directly to each family via email and/or text message.

This type of pro-active notification service is new and allows the family to concentrate on all of the important non-baseball activities that take up so much of our time these days. They don’t have to call the phone hotline over and over again until they hear of the closing.

- No Busy signals
- No long drives in the rain to find frustration at the park
- No old status messages or “Full” mailboxes
- No hounding the coach to get additional information.

Your sponsorship ads will be seen by many of these families as they navigate the park’s website, our website, and most importantly they will be in the emails that are sent to thousands of families when there is a status change, typically because of bad weather. Additionally, if you are already a park sponsor, 10% of the sponsorship fee goes directly to the parks.

How can you participate? We have three levels of sponsorship:

- 1. A single park
- 2. All parks in a certain geographic region that you cover
- 3. All parks in the system nationwide

Please indicate which level of participation you want to participate in (circle one)
